Welcome to Chicago's Most Rebellious Gift Guide!

Shop the Show that's 'One of a Kind'

Those looking for a number of unique gifts via one-stop shopping can look to the “19th Annual One of a Kind Holiday Show” (Dec. 5-8) at The Mart in River North.

The four-day event offers artwork (ceramics, paintings, photography, sculpture, etc.) and handcrafted pieces (jewelry, baskets, furniture, etc.) made by more than 600 artisans. Attendees can also enjoy live music, fashion shows, artist demonstrations, crafting workshops, and gourmet cafes as they shop.

“Every year we are amazed by the quality and unique items artists produce for our show,” says Aida Sarvan, director of marketing for the One of a Kind Show. “Shoppers are treated to new and trendy items from hundreds of artists, which can only be found at The Mart each holiday season. This year, our holiday gift guide features a variety of new items from our Emerging Market, which features 30 up-and-coming artists sharing their work at the show for the first time.” Tickets are $12 per adult for all four days; children are free. Special ticket packages are also available. A portion of all ticket sales benefit the Ann & Robert H. Lurie Children’s Hospital of Chicago. For more information, visit oneofakindshowchicago.com.
